World Habitat Day – Monday 3 October

There are so many special days throughout the year it can be hard to keep up with them all, so why do we think 3rd October 2022 is a special day and why do we want you to care?

The United Nations established the first World Habitat Day in 1986 in Nairobi, Kenya, with the theme 'Shelter is my right'. Every year on the first Monday of October, this day is marked around the world to examine the problems of rapid urbanisation and its impact on the environment and human poverty. With 1.6 billion people still living in sub-standard housing, how can any of us choose not to care?

To observe World Habitat Day, places you firmly at the frontline of sharing the message that we are all responsible for shaping how our cities and towns look in the future and making sure that they are inclusive of everyone.

This year, the World Habitat Day theme is 'Mind the Gap. Leave No One and Place Behind' and at Habitat Hong Kong, we want to help you be part of this important global movement to recognise the need for decent and affordable housing for everyone, wherever you are. All you need to do is sign up to join our free Housing Series event as our way of celebrating people coming together around the world to make sure no-one is left behind.

- The day is Monday, October 3rd
- The time is 1pm-2pm HKT
- The topic is Leave No One Behind: Addressing growing inequalities in housing
- Our guest speakers for this event will be Mr Ricky Chu Man-Kin, Chairperson of the Equal Opportunities Commission (EOC) and Susan K. Araka, officer from the UN Habitat regional office for Africa. This conversation will be moderated by Karen Lee, Project Manager I (Spatial), Jockey Club Design Institute for Social Innovation.

This event is the third in our series and we were honoured to have Dr. Mee Kam Ng and Johann Baar join us for our second Housing Series webinar in August, where they explored why affordable housing is key to realising the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). A huge thank you again to our guest speakers for sharing their experience and expertise and to Olivia Wong, our Board Director, for moderating this inspiring and meaningful conversation. If you missed the webinar, you can watch the discussion on our YouTube channel now.

Thank you!

Voices of Volunteers

13 volunteers from Hilti Asia joined our Project Home Works programme a few weeks ago and helped to renovate two homes, one for Grandma Chan and one for Grandpa Choi. Even though it was a very hot day, all the volunteers were eager and excited to start renovation right away.

One of the volunteers, Jiwon Hwang, who renovated Grandma Chan's home, shared her experience, "It was a lot harder than expected. When I volunteered, I thought it was just a simple experience, but it was a real experience as a whole. I could not imagine finishing all the work I had to finish today, but I felt very satisfied with our work today and I am happy and glad that Grandma Chan is happy with it as well!"

Even though she felt very tired at the end of the day, she volunteered to go and visit Grandpa Choi's home to see if the other group needed extra help! We are so happy to see that she enjoyed her volunteer experience. A massive thank you to Hilti Asia's amazing volunteers for their hard work. Every volunteer can make a difference and help us to achieve our vision of a world where everyone has a decent place to live.

Our local impact

We recently visited Shek Lei Estate to improve the living conditions for an elderly couple. Grandma Choi lives with her husband. She has limited mobility and her husband has suffered from cataracts for years, making it difficult for them to do basic cleaning regularly and safely.

On the service day, we helped them to do a thorough deep clean of their home, including removing dust and mould in the kitchen and toilet, and tidying up. They are happy and thankful to Habitat's support.

"Not only do I feel thankful for all your work to help to clean and tidy up my home, but also feel the love and care from you when I have the chance to talk and share with you, I feel proud of our young people who are committed to help the elderly in the

Our global impact

Housing prices play an integral role in inflation and the overall health of our economy. On August 10, Habitat for Humanity International hosted +You: In Conversation with Mark Zandi, chief economist of Moody's Analytics. In this one-on-one discussion, Habitat's CEO, Jonathan Reckford and Zandi explored the current economic landscape, its impact on affordable homeownership today and the outlook for the months ahead. This conversation is part of Habitat for Humanity's ongoing +You series bringing together experts from across the U.S. and around the world to discuss how housing intersects and interacts with other areas of societal concern including public health, racial equity, faith and the economy.
